

Increasing Access to Organic Knowledge Worldwide

The International Federation of Organic Agriculture Movements (IFOAM), through its Academy for Organic Excellence, provides technical assistance to farmers, green enterprises, government officers, development agencies and organizations interested in implementing training courses on Organic Agriculture.

The IFOAM Federation currently brings together 752 companies and organizations within the organic movement in 116 countries. Through its activities, IFOAM facilitates constructive dialogue on the state and the future of organic agriculture and implements specific projects in the interested countries.

The IFOAM Academy manages an online training-platform, designed to facilitate the promotion of courses and seminars, links to web sites and opportunities on organic agriculture issues. The platform is a meeting place for organizations and institutions of the organic world, and an instrument of dissemination, sharing of learning materials and promotion of organic farming at the international level.

For more information:

International Federation of Organic Agriculture Movements

Brochure of the IFOAM Academy for Organic Excellence