

CRATERre and the inventory of UNESCO World Heritage earthen architecture

CRATERre-ENSAG has completed the inventory of earth goods in the framework of the World Heritage Earthen Architecture Programme led by the UNESCO World Heritage Centre. The inventory was presented at the international event Tierra 2012 organized by UNESCO in Lima (Peru), in June 2012.

This inventory, which includes 150 goods, is the product of two years of high-level work of the widely renowned International Centre for Earth Construction CRATERre (Grenoble, France). The Inventory provides information on the listed goods and is a drive to promote the culture of construction with local materials and its preservation as a part of the heritage of humanity. The International Centre is part of the School of Architecture of Grenoble, and offers the only master degree in the world in earth architecture.
